Validity

Often ~90 days — confirm with your authority

What This Means for You

[H2] The Hague Apostille Convention

The 1961 Hague Apostille Convention streamlines document authentication between member countries. Instead of multiple rounds of government legalization, a single apostille issued by the U.S. Department of State is all foreign authorities need to recognize your FBI background check as authentic.

Because an FBI background check is a federal document, it must be apostilled by the U.S. Department of State — not a state Secretary of State. Spain, Germany, Australia, and all other Hague member countries will reject a state-level apostille on a federal document.

Important:

Only the U.S. Department of State Office of Authentications can apostille federal documents like your FBI Identity History Summary. State-level apostilles are not accepted.

[H3] An apostille is commonly required for:

- Powers of Attorney (Poder Notarial)
- Birth and Marriage Certificates
- Business Formation Documents
- School Records and Diplomas
- Legal Affidavits
- FBI Background Check Reports

BUTTON: Book an Appointment → <https://midwestidentityservices.com/book-an-appointment/>
Why People Need It

[H2] Common Reasons to Apostille Your FBI Check

Most Hague member countries require a recent, apostilled background check from your country of citizenship for long-stay applications.

[H3] Residency Visas

Non-lucrative, retirement, and passive income visas require a clean criminal record from your home country.

[H3] Work Permits

Employer-sponsored and digital-nomad visas commonly require an apostilled background check.

[H3] Student Visas

Long-term study programs and university enrollment often require authentication for entry.

[H3] Marriage & Family

Marriage abroad and family reunification visas often require apostilled documentation.

[H3] Adoption

International adoption processes in Hague member countries require background check authentication.

Start to Finish

[H2] How Your FBI Apostille Works

Four steps — and unlike most apostille services, we can handle the very first one too.

1

Step 1

[H3] Get Your FBI Report

Use your existing FBI Identity History Summary, or we capture your fingerprints and obtain it for you. We can handle this step — no need to find a separate channeler.

2

Step 2

[H3] We Review Your Package

You complete the DS-4194; we review every detail alongside your report and confirm everything is submission-ready. A miscompleted form is the most common cause of rejection.

3

Step 3

[H3] Submitted to State Dept.

Your document is submitted to the U.S. Department of State Office of Authentications for the apostille. We monitor progress and keep you updated.

4

Step 4

[H3] Returned to You

Your apostilled report ships back — with a certified translation included if your destination country requires one. Everything arrives as one submission-ready package.

Timeline & Cost

[H2] What to Expect

[H3] FBI Report

A few days when fingerprints are submitted electronically through a channeler. We can handle this step for you from anywhere in the country.

[H3] Apostille Processing

Varies. Standard mail-in is subject to State Department backlog. Expedited handling available — ask for current turnaround times on your quote.

[H3] Certified Translation

Optional but coordinated in parallel, so your translation arrives together with the apostille as one complete, submission-ready package.

Good to Know

[H2] Frequently Asked Questions

[H3] Can I use a state apostille on my FBI report?

No. An FBI background check is a federal document — it must be apostilled by the U.S. Department of State, not a state Secretary of State. State-level apostilles on federal documents are commonly rejected by foreign authorities, even in Hague member countries.

[H3] Do Hague countries still need embassy legalization?

No. A single apostille from the U.S. Department of State is sufficient — no embassy visit, no consulate stamp, no further legalization required in any Hague member country.

[H3] Can I apostille a digital (PDF) FBI report?

Yes. We accept the official FBI eDO electronic PDF issued by the FBI or an approved channeler. This lets you start the process remotely from anywhere in the country without mailing originals first.

[H3] How recent does my FBI background check need to be?

Most countries expect a report issued within 90 days, but this varies. Always confirm the current window with the specific consulate or authority handling your application before submitting.

[H3] Do I need a certified translation?

Many non-English-speaking Hague countries require a certified translation of the apostilled report. We coordinate translation in parallel so both documents arrive together as one submission-ready package.

[H3] How long does the whole process take?

FBI report generation via electronic fingerprint takes a few days. Apostille processing varies with State Department volume. We confirm current timing on your personalized quote.

Why Legalization, Not Apostille

[H2] FBI Background Check Attestation for Non-Hague Countries

Not every country accepts a simple apostille. When your destination country is not a member of the 1961 Hague Apostille Convention, your FBI background check must go through a two-stage embassy legalization process — also called attestation.

This process takes longer and costs more than a single apostille, but we sequence both stages for you and handle the entire U.S. side from fingerprint to embassy.

Hague Country (Apostille)

[H3] Single Apostille

One stamp from the U.S. Dept. of State. No embassy visit needed. Faster processing, lower cost. Accepted in 126 countries worldwide.

✂ Non-Hague Country (Attestation)

[H3] Two-Stage Legalization

U.S. Dept. of State authentication plus embassy legalization — then final MOFA attestation in-country. We manage the entire U.S. side for you.

Important:

Submitting an apostilled document to a non-Hague country will result in rejection. Countries like the UAE, Qatar, Kuwait, and Egypt require full embassy legalization — an apostille alone is not accepted.

Why People Need It

[H2] Common Reasons to Get Your FBI Check Attested

Non-Hague countries require a legalized background check from your country of citizenship for most long-stay, employment, and residency applications.

[H3] Employment & Work Visa

Employer sponsorship and most work permits require an attested background check from your home country.

[H3] Residency & Long-Stay Visa

Long-term residency, retirement, and golden visa programs commonly require attestation as part of the application.

[H3] Family Sponsorship

Sponsoring a spouse or dependents often requires an attested police clearance from your country of origin.

[H3] Professional Licensing

Licensed professions — healthcare, law, engineering — typically require attestation for credential recognition.

[H3] Business Registration

Company formation, investment visa, and free-zone setup may require an attested background check.

Start to Finish

[H2] How FBI Attestation Works

Five steps — more than a Hague apostille, but we manage every stage on the U.S. side.

Step 1

[H3] Get Your FBI Report

Use your existing FBI Identity History Summary, or we capture your fingerprints and obtain it for you. We accept the official FBI eDO electronic PDF — you can start remotely from any state.

Step 2

[H3] We Review Your Package

You complete the DS-4194; we review every detail alongside your report before anything is submitted. A non-Hague legalization chain is costly to redo — we catch issues before they become rejections.

Step 3

[H3] State Dept. Authentication

Your report is authenticated by the U.S. Department of State Office of Authentications — the first and required stamp in the legalization chain.

4

Step 4

[H3] Embassy Legalization

The destination country's embassy in Washington, DC legalizes the authenticated report. We handle submission and tracking for this stage entirely on your behalf.

Step 5

[H3] Returned to You

Ships back with certified translation included — ready for the final Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA) attestation once it arrives in your destination country. Everything in one submission-ready package.

Good to Know

[H2] Frequently Asked Questions

[H3] What is embassy legalization / attestation?

Embassy legalization (also called attestation) is the process used for countries not in the Hague Apostille Convention. Instead of a single apostille, your FBI background check goes through two stages: first authenticated by the U.S. Department of State, then legalized by the destination country's embassy in Washington, DC.

[H3] Why can't I just use an apostille for these countries?

An apostille is only valid for Hague Convention member countries. Non-Hague countries — including the UAE, Qatar, Kuwait, Egypt, and others on this list — do not recognize an apostille. Submitting an apostilled document to a non-Hague country will result in rejection.

[H3] Do I need a certified translation?

Almost always, yes. Countries with Arabic as an official language require a certified Arabic translation alongside the document. Malaysia and Vietnam require translations in their respective languages. We prepare certified translations in-house and legalize them together with your report as one package.

[H3] What is the MOFA step?

After U.S. legalization, most non-Hague countries require a final attestation by their Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA) once the document arrives in-country. We prepare your documents so they're ready for that final step — we handle the entire U.S. side of the process.

[H3] How recent does my FBI check need to be?

Most non-Hague countries expect a report issued within 3 to 6 months, but requirements vary by country and employer. Confirm the required window with your employer or the relevant authority before ordering.

[H3] Can I use a digital (PDF) FBI report?

Yes. We accept the official FBI eDO electronic PDF, so you can start the process remotely from anywhere in the country without mailing paper originals first.

[H2] Apostille Services in Kansas City - Birth Certificates, Custodian Documents & More

Need to send U.S. documents overseas for immigration, study, marriage, or dual citizenship?

At Midwest Apostille & Notary Services, we help individuals, families, and attorneys get their documents certified through apostille or custodian verification — fast, legally, and accurately.

We handle the full apostille process in Missouri, including:

[H2] Common Apostille Document Types

- Birth certificates (certified copies from MO Vital Records)
- Marriage certificates
- Divorce decrees
- Death certificates
- Custodian notarized documents
- Power of attorney
- School transcripts & diplomas
- FBI background checks (via DOJ or federal apostille)
- Corporate records, articles of incorporation, IRS letters
- Single Status Affidavit / Affidavit of Law

Our team ensures that your document is either:

- Notarized and certified by the Secretary of State, or
- Submitted as a certified vital record (no notary needed)

[H2] Countries That Commonly Require Apostille Services

We provide apostille-ready documents for clients in Kansas City with family, legal, or business ties to countries that are part of the Hague Convention. These include:

El Salvador, Nicaragua, Mexico, Morocco, Colombia, Ecuador, Brazil, Spain, Italy, France, Philippines, India, Peru, Chile, Ukraine

We also support non-Hague countries that require authentication + embassy legalization, like:

China, United Arab Emirates (UAE), Qatar, Egypt, Lebanon, Kuwait

[H2] What is a Custodian Document Certification?

A custodian of record document is a notarized declaration that verifies a copy of a document is a true and accurate reproduction of the original — often used for:

- Diplomas
- Business licenses
- Medical records
- Legal documents you don't want to submit in original form

Missouri requires that the custodian (holder of the document) sign a sworn statement that is notarized. This document can then be apostilled through the Secretary of State.

We help you draft and notarize this statement properly, then process it for apostille.

[H2] Apostille FAQs (Optimized for Keywords)

How to get a birth certificate apostille in Missouri?

We can request your certified birth certificate and submit it to the Missouri Secretary of State for apostille. Processing takes 1-3 business days on average.

Do I need a notary for an apostille?

Only for documents like POAs or affidavits. Certified vital records (birth, marriage, etc.) do not need to be notarized — they are submitted as originals.

Can I get an apostille for a document in Spanish?

Yes — as long as it's notarized in English, we can process the apostille. We also assist with translated documents for many countries.

Where do I get apostille services near me in Kansas City?

Midwest Apostille & Notary Services is your trusted apostille partner, serving Kansas City, Jackson County, Independence, North KC, and statewide.
